What makes the Mark Twain House stand out is the fact that not only do you get to see the history of one of the greatest American writers, but the home itself is worthy of the trip. The Mark Twain Museum is not just about him and his writings. It is an invaluable look into American History. The late 19th and early 20th century was critical times in the shaping of the United States, and the Twain House does an amazing job of teaching us. Admission $16

Connecticut River Museum - The magic returns with the 22nd Annual Train Show. The family-friendly exhibit, created by train artist Steve Cryan, features more trains, new scenery, and lots of surprises to be found in the fully operational 26-foot model train layout. Visitors are challenged to complete the I SPY Scavenger Hunt of various objects hidden within the settings while the smaller visitor set can get hands-on at an American Flyer and Lionel Train layout designed for toddler size viewing. The exhibit is a true locomotive extravaganza and a perfect outing for train fans and all who are young at heart.
